The First R in Resiliency: Relationships

Relationships are the key to building resiliency. Parent engagement and connection is the essential ingredient. Learn about how the brain is wired: in younger years and teen years and the impact that adults can have. This event is sponsored by the Parent Reaching Out Grant from the Ministry of Education, LKDSB Parent Involvement Committee and SCCDSB Board Advisory Committee.

Dr. Clinton is renowned locally, provincially, nationally, and more recently internationally as an advocate for children's issues. Her special interest lies in brain development, and the crucial role relationships and connectedness play therein. Jean champions the development of a national, comprehensive child and youth well-being strategy and is committed to ensuring that children's and youths' needs and voices are heard and respected.
